

The «À LA CROISÉE DES DROITS»
(Law systems at the crossroads)
collection, Editions BRUYLANT, Brussels

The collection stems from the observation that scientific research is excessively segmented and we believe that it is more necessary than ever to decompartmentalise it. We have to transcend the traditional separations that cut through teaching and research (public law/private law, international law/European law/national law, health law/environmental law/economic law...). Indeed, these no longer supply the intellectual apparatus that makes sense of the complexity of the social, political and economic phenomenon that surrounds us.
